BEING MYSELF

March 27, 2022

LESSON LEARNT I was born in Tamil-nadu TIRICHUNAPHALI on 21st november 2001 and at the time the first word i spoke was ammma...amma all doctors, nurses and even my all relative were shocked. Recently my mom told that this senario even i was shocked and today i feel very proud to myself one out of hundred kids i spoke the word. After 2 years i was the wonderfull kid with lots of energy and my grandfather gifted me a cycle this was my first task i completed any lost my 2 little tooth by falling and broke my arms. I fall again and again and the thing i have learn is to never give up. During school times i was very inntrovative and any one can bully me even i used to fight with friends and during exam i used to fail in every subject and Teacher give us the papers to get the sign of parents and i used to tell my parents that i am passed in every subject and during open house there used to be a PTM when my parents use to see my papers they got shocked and scold and told me that always speak truth because truth will bring you forward in life. In any worst situation you should speak the truth
